

ESD-Coordinator Training

Description:

Our long-running training since -1996 but more alert and more developed than ever. A full day of the course for those who have responsibility for the company's ESD protection or who wish to have a broad and comprehensive knowledge of static electricity. The course was recently updated to include the changes in the latest edition of the ESD standard 61340-5-1

Audience:

Quality managers, operators, purchasers and others who have need for extended knowledge of ESD protection.

Purpose:

To provide a broad knowledge of static electricity and how to deal with electronics to avoid component damage caused by ESD.

Requirements:

No special needs, but it is good to know electrical concepts such as volts, ohms.

Contents:

-ESD basics -Coordinator Responsibilities -Verification of the function
-Internal rules and Procedures -Standards / norms -Structure of the EPA, packaging

Theory

-Internal training approach and -Monitoring, auditing, troubleshooting,
-Implementation, literature. -Statistics, analysis

Our Trainers:

Lars-Olof Carl Heim

Have experience in telecommunications technology and production management electronic design. He is a qualified teacher and has been for 8 years worked on skills development in the electricity and telecommunications, among others, as a lecturer at Royal Institute of Technology .

Kenth Jämttjärn

Responsible for programs and services of the army corps. Has 15 years experience in the protection against static electricity primarily directed against the producing electronics industry. He has been involved in education in 1000's, people in the Swedish electronics industry.

Anders Thulin

Basically, a chemist with many years of experience production. He is, after 15 years, one of the main Course leaders in the field of static electricity when management of fire and explosive goods. Employed the IEC+s standardization work Electronics as EX- specialist.

www.armeka.se

karina@armeka.se